

The 2021 Southern BC flood—A Foreseeable Disaster

I would examine the flood through a geoscience lens and place it within the record of historic floods in BC. I would also summarize the results of research by Environment Canada scientists that storms like these (“atmospheric river” events) will become more frequent, larger, and perhaps longer in the future.

