

Peter Fischl

Peter Fischl, B.Sc., P.Geo. is currently employed with Westhaven Gold Corp., focussing on exploring the epithermal gold potential of the Spences Bridge Gold Belt in Southwestern British Columbia. Peter had previously spent 12 years (2003-2015) in the Russian Far East conducting brownfields exploration for low sulphidation epithermal gold deposits at Kupol and Dvoinoye with Bema Gold, B2Gold and Kinross Gold. Prior to this he has worked with Hunter Dickinson Group (1993 – 2001), exploring for and developing porphyry copper and epithermal gold deposits in western North America, including low sulphidation epithermal gold deposits in British Columbia (Cinola) and Nevada (Hollister).
