

Peter Prochotsky

Peter Prochotsky is the Mine Manager at the New Afton Mine. He is responsible for the underground operations which begin with a resource model and end with a tonne of ore on surface. Peter is passionate about maintaining a great work environment and giving New Afton's employees the tools needed to succeed at their work. To do that, he has been involved with remote control and autonomous operations since 2017. Under his leadership the autonomous operations have grown and will continue to grow into the foreseeable future.
